Assumptions for validation - staff and organizational conditions

The assessors are practitioners, people who actively work in a given sector.

The group of assessors includes experts who work with us to create qualifications and design validation tools.

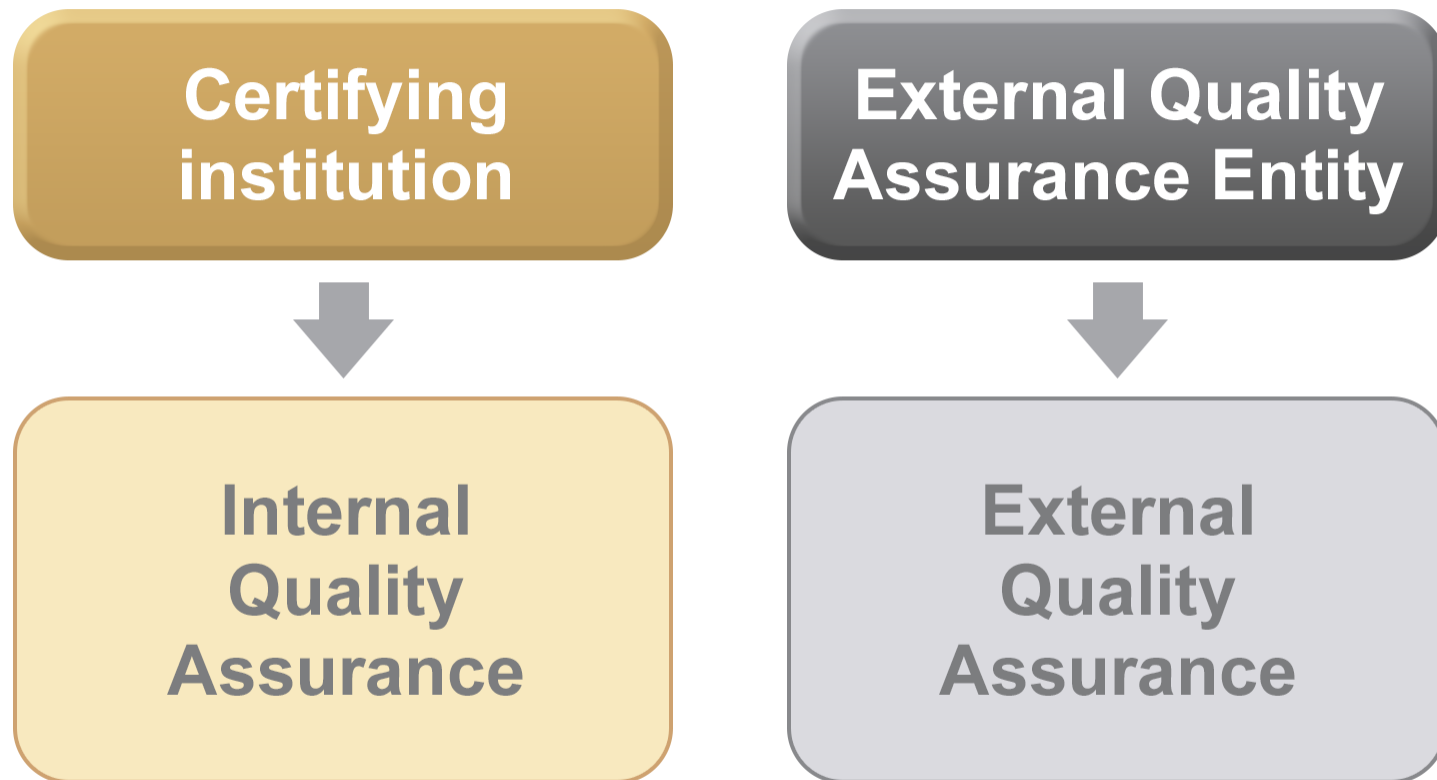

Examination boards consist of at least 2 assessors.

Certifying institutions provide all the equipment and organization for validation - we construct our own validation stations, which are mobile and unique on the market.

Part of the validation is also possible to carry out online - ministerial approval is required (result of the Covid-19 pandemic).

Quality assurance of the qualification process
