1. Problem statement/context

Questions of the incompatibility of education to the requirements of the times were raised before the start of a full-scale war. However, today high-quality human capital and retraining under the challenges of time, and strong civic and life skills are the guarantee of our resilience. The war has affected every person and every community in Ukraine, and which is accompanied by new challenges: migration processes both within the country and abroad, significant destruction of the material and social infrastructure of communities, the inclusion of almost the entire population in voluntary, social activities that help mitigate the consequences of the war and win. Millions of people were forced to leave their jobs, businesses, professional plans and learn new skills in the fields of medicine, civil defense, military art, remote work technologies to restore the economy.

The effort of key stakeholders to create legislative support for adult learning and education continues despite Russia's war against Ukraine. In January 2023 the Verkhovna Rada of Ukraine adopted the draft law "On Adult Education" in the first reading. The Law is designed to streamline the field of adult education in Ukraine, ensure its effective financing, and create a legislative basis for the functioning of adult education institutions. More than a thousand amendments have been submitted to the draft law. These amendments will be considered by the Committee on Science, Education, and Innovation before the document is sent to a vote for adoption. The final adoption of the draft law will allow every person to retrain or attain new skills.

The role of communities is important, and first, they need support, resources, and clear regulation. Communities all over Ukraine have accepted many internally displaced people and must provide them with living conditions and work. In addition, they are restoring the destroyed infrastructure, and are looking for opportunities for the development of the community today and are already thinking about reconstruction after the war. Therefore, the voices of communities should be sounded in lobbying for the law.

The DVV International project's cities (Lviv and Sumy) were announced as members of the UNESCO

Global Network of Learning Cities in February 2024. We call on all 9 cities of Ukraine that joined the network to become active partners and to support and accelerate local authorities' and citizens' engagement in democratic dialogue to foster the adoption of the Law on ALE.

We will also promote the UNESCO Learning Cities concept, which allows to increase the role of LLL and networking between CSOs and local authorities (LAs) (and other stakeholders) for local sustainable development.

2. Desired change and goal

To network Learning cities and CSOs of other Ukrainian cities to promote policy dialogue and peer learning among cities, forge links, and develop instruments to encourage LA and citizens to support the promotion of the national ALE Law.

Tasks:

- Expand the network of ALE providers who support the national Law on ALE and contribute to the lobbying process.
- Exchange the views on the role of ALE in nowadays and post-war reconstruction, and restoration of Ukraine, and convey duties, powers, and responsibilities between the state, communities, and citizens.
- Work out effective dialogue instruments for the relevant stakeholders aiming to engage LAs and citizens in democratic dialog and raise citizen's voices.
- Identify the mechanisms of popularization and implementation of the national Law on ALE.
- Share cases and experience on implementing ALE in 2023 by Learning Cities and identify best practices and solutions for the development of the community.
- Generate ideas for promoting a culture of lifelong learning among community residents to raise awareness.

Expected results:

- Gain a better understanding of the current context and challenges that various communities face in ALE promotion on a local level.
- Reflect on the gaps, weaknesses, and strengths in ALE in terms of the legislative level to the level of practical implementation to lobby for changes at different levels.
- Gain more supporters who understand the value of the law on ALE and the importance of passing it.
- Memorandum on joint actions to lobby for the law on ALE.
- Elaborated strategy of promoting the national Law on ALE on local and national levels.
